

CLIMATE AND HEALTH RESPONDER COURSE FOR LATIN AMERICA

PRESENTED BY THE GLOBAL CONSORTIUM ON CLIMATE AND HEALTH EDUCATION, PAN AMERICAN HEALTH ORGANIZATION AND THE INTER-AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL CHANGE RESEARCH

The Climate and Health Responder Course for Latin America is a 5-week free online certificate course designed for public health researchers and academics interested in applying climate and health knowledge to inform health and policy decisions.

- DATE/TIME: April 19 – May 19, 2022
 - 90-minute didactic sessions on Tuesday and Thursday
 - 9:00am – 10:30am CDMX (Mexico) / 12:00 – 1:30pm UYT (Uruguay)
- TARGETED AUDIENCE: Public Health and Environmental Researchers, Health Professionals, Health Leaders, anyone interested in learning more about climate and health!

SESSION TOPICS:

- 4/19/22 – Climate Change and Health
- 4/21/22 – Climate Vulnerability and Risk
- 4/26/22 – Degraded Air Quality and Wildfires
- 4/28/22 – Temperature Extremes and Climate Change
- 5/3/22 – El niño/La niña Effects/extra-tropical cyclones
- 5/5/22 – Food and Water Safety and Security
- 5/10/22 – Vector-borne and Zoonotic Diseases
- 5/12/22 – Data Collection and Surveillance
- 5/17/22 – Climate Adaptation and Mitigation (Co-Benefits)
- 5/19/22 – Regional Climate Change Guidance (public policy)

REGISTER

Please direct any questions to hec2141@columbia.edu

COURSE WEBSITE