Subject: New resources on transdisciplinary coordination and research in Latin America and the Caribbean

Dear Sir or Madam,

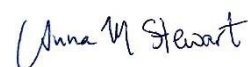

I am pleased to inform you that the IAI has launched two new publications: “Transdisciplinary Research in Action in Latin America and the Caribbean: Case Studies” and “Transdisciplinary Coordination: Building Bridges for the Future of Knowledge Co-production”.

Transdisciplinary Research in Action brings together eight emblematic case studies on how science, policy, and communities are working together to address the challenges of global environmental change in the region. The open access publication can be downloaded in English and Spanish, and accessed through the free, certificate-based course “Advances in Transdisciplinary Research on Global Environmental Change in Latin America and the Caribbean” available on the IAI Virtual Campus.

Transdisciplinary Coordination was produced by the IAI Transdisciplinary Academy, together with the Belmont Forum, the Global Development Network (GDN), and Inclusive Innovation, and with the support of the US National Science Foundation (NSF). The publication shares a practical roadmap for institutions, governments, and projects seeking to transform funding and build capacity, as well as a set of training resources, networking strategies, and assessment tools. It can be downloaded in Spanish and English for free.

We encourage you to read the publications and share them with colleagues, institutions, and networks.

Please accept, Madam or Sir, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Anna Stewart Ibarra
Executive Director
