

CLAUDIA MARÍA MARTÍNEZ PERALTA

Comisión de Ecología y Desarrollo Sustentable del Estado de Sonora Mexico

Her received M. Sc. degrees in Social Science from El Colegio de Sonora in 2009 and Environmental Systems from The Tecnológico de Monterrey (ITESM) in 2002. She has spent academic times in universities from Germany, Spain and France. She currently is a Ph.D. student in Social Sciences at El Colegio de Sonora, and her research interests include the role of collective and collaborative action in water resources management mainly in irrigation systems. She serves as a researcher at the Conservation Department in the Commission of Ecology and Sustainable Development of Sonora's State (CEDES) since 1994. Her main responsibility is to promote the horizontal integration of social and private sectors in environmental protection policies and programs. She also has coordinated and participated studies related to the land-use planning and urban environmental protection.