

JOYCE MONTEIRO

Empresa Brasileira de Pesquisa Agropecuária - Embrapa
Brazil

Dr. Joyce Monteiro works as a researcher at Embrapa Soils in the environmental planning / global climate change area. She is Agronomist, master in Ecology and doctor in environmental planning at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro. Her research focus is on climate change mitigation by land use, land use change and forestry sector, policy instruments for sustainable rural development and payments for ecosystem services. She currently leads a project on rural development with focus in environmental ecosystem services in the Rio de Janeiro State.