

Tomás Milani
IMASL-CONICET and University of San Luis (UNSL)
Argentina

I am Tomás Milani, from Argentina, and i am 24 years old. I am agronomist and i am holding a PhD scholarship provided by Argentina national research council (CONICET). I work in San Luis, at Grupo de Estudios Ambientales (GEA). Actually i am focused on geophysics and soil biota interactions of pine invasions into mountain grasslands in Sierras Grandes, Córdoba, Argentina. Particularly i am interested in mechanisms involving ectomycorrhizal fungi, its community and relationship with water and nutrients (N,P) that promote invasion but also with age structure, spatial distribution and temporal patterns of the process.