

GLADYS SANTIS

Ministerio del Medio Ambiente

Chile

Gladys Santis has studied Agronomy at the University of Chile, with special emphasis in Soil and Water Resources management. She has worked in soil cartography, irrigation and drainage systems and also, at the General Directorate of Water- Ministry of Public Works, regards water resources management and availability. She currently works at the Ministry of Environment, as an Adaptation Officer in the Climate Change Office, carrying out the Climate Change Adaptation Sectorial Plans for Water Resources and Infrastructure and Coastal Zones, which includes vulnerability assessments and development of adaptation measures for the sectors involved.