

Allan Yu I. de Mello

Allan Yu I. de Mello is an Environmental Engineering from the University of São Paulo State –UNESP-Brazil (2002-2006) and M.Sc degree in Remote Sensing at the National Institute for Space Research- INPE (2007-2009). He is currently a PhD student in Environment and Society at the Center for Environmental Studies and Research at State University of Campinas - NEPAM/UNICAMP. He works with multiscales analysis of social and environmental vulnerability to climate change in the North Coast of São Paulo, whereby he intend to analyze the social and environmental dimensions related to earth flow, floods, water vulnerability in different scales