

ARTURO SANCHEZ-AZOFEIFA

University of Alberta

Canada

Dr. Sanchez-Azofeifa (BSc University of Costa Rica, MSc Hydrology University of New Hampshire, PhD Earth Sciences University of New Hampshire) is currently a Professor at the Department of Earth and Atmospheric Sciences at the University of Alberta. Dr. Sanchez-Azofeifa also serves as the Director of the Alberta Center for Earth Observation Sciences (CEOS). Dr. Sanchez-Azofeifa has been the recipient of a Fulbright Fellowship (1990-1996), has been appointed as the First Canadian/Latin American Fellow of the prestigious Aldo Leopold Leadership Program at the Wood's Institute for Environment, Stanford University (2006); he received the 2006 University of Alberta's Faculty of Sciences Research Award for Outstanding Contributions to Research, the 2006 Canadian Forest Service Merit Award and the Taylor & 2006 Best Research Letter Award published by the International Journal of Remote Sensing. He is also the recipient of the 2008-09 McCalla Research Professorship at the University of Alberta. In 2009 he received the Best Teacher Award – Adult Education from the Edmonton Region Autism Society. In 2008, he entered the top 1% citations in the world for the field of Environment & Ecology in Essential Science Indicators<sup>SM</sup> from Thomson Reuters. In 2012 he was awarded the prestigious Sir McMaster Fellowship by the Australia's Commonwealth Science and Research Innovation Organization (CSIRO), and was also promoted as Senior Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE). In 2016, the Alberta's Astech Foundation honored him for his outstanding achievement in environmental technology and Innovation. He has published over 200 scientific papers and 2 books.