

EDITH AGUILA ALCANTARA

Universidad Central “Marta Abreu” de Las Villas (UCLV)

Cuba

Edith Aguila Alcantara. Professor of the Agronomy Department at UCLV. Specialized in Soil Sciences, focusing on soil fertility and mangemnet. Graduated as Eng. in Agronomy in 1995 at UCLV, Cuba. Master in Agroecology and Sustainable Agriculture in 2000 at UNAH. PhD. in Agricultural Sciences in 2007 at Goettingen University, Germany. President of the National Academic Committee for Agronomy career in Cuba. Arbitress of the Journal Centro Agrícola. More than 20 papers, of which 2 in WOS and co-author of 2 books. More than 20 postgrade courses received. Member of the Academic Committee of the Doctoral Program in Sustainable Tropical Agriculture of the Faculty of Agricultural and Animal Sciences at UCLV. Member of the Scientific Council of the Faculty of Agricultural and Animal Sciences at UCLV. Member of the teaching staff in 2 master programs (Agricultural Engineering, Sustainable Tropical Agriculture) Expert of the National Committee for the Accreditation of pre-grade curricular programs. Participant of 3 international projects and several national research projects.