

HÉCTOR TUY

Universidad Rafael Landívar (URL)

Instituto de Agricultura, Recursos Naturales y Ambiente (IARNA)

Guatemala

Héctor Tuy is a natural resource manager with nearly twenty years of experience in working with government agencies, NGO, and local communities in design, execution and evaluation of complex projects linking the environment to development. In recent years he has been actively providing technical assistance in the areas of strategic environmental assessment and statistics and data systems to UNEP (GEO-5). Currently is undertaking teaching and research at the Universidad Rafael Landívar (Professor of Human Ecology, Sustainable Development, and Environmental Sociology) and is the Local Capacity Coordinator for the USAID/Guatemala Monitoring & Evaluation Program (MEP).