

IRVIN CALDERÓN

Senacyt

Guatemala

Irvin is Industrial Engineer, he studied in the San Carlos University of Guatemala. Actually linked to professional technical consultation on R & D projects developing statistical models correlation of variables that directly affect the quality and impact of the projects for the SENACYT in Guatemala. He Advise SENACYT for the implementation of monitoring and related projects evaluation scientific and technological research activities in the country. Develop and review technical instruments implementing programs nationwide. Irvin participates in the review, updating and development of the National Plan for Science, Technology and Innovation of Guatemala annually, he Provide logistical support SINCYT commissions. Specifically he is the responsible for monitoring, evaluation, supervision and control of the technical implementation of programs and projects, review contracts and technical agreements and rule to continue or cancel. Support in the implementation of activities in science and technology (workshops, short courses, conferences, trainings). Control and monitoring people involved in projects funded by the FONACYT.