

Xin You
Soil and Plant Nutrition
Germany

Xin is a graduating master student of EnviroFood at University of Hohenheim and obtained his Bachelor degree at China Agricultural University in 2013. Currently, he is conducting a research project focused on the life cycle greenhouse gas emission of soybean biodiesel in Brazil at University of São Paulo within the Bio-based economy strategic network coordinated by Hohenheim. Considering his interdisciplinary academic background, his research interests lie in sustainability of agriculture and environment.