

ELKE NOELLEMEYER

Universidad Nacional de La Pampa
Argentina

Elke Johanna Noellemeier is Professor of Soil Science at the Facultad de Agronomía, Universidad Nacional de La Pampa. She was trained as a soil scientist at the College of Agriculture of the University of Saskatchewan, Canada, and has been working on soil management, with a special interest in organic matter and soil physical properties. She has been involved in several international research networks and actively participates in the science-policy interface regarding environmental and agronomic topics.