

PATRICIA IRENE FIGUEROLA

Universidad Nacional de Chilecito, Provincia de La Rioja Argentina

Degree and a PhD in Atmospheric Sciences at the University of Buenos Aires (Argentina) and has completed postdoctoral studies at 'Wylter Department of Agriculture of The Jacob Blaustein Institutes for Desert Research, Ben-Gurion University of the Negev (Israel)', with a grant from CONICET (2001-2003) and one of the UBA (1998-1999). She currently works as a teacher and researcher at the National University of Chilecito. The working areas are agrometeorology and micrometeorology. In recent years she has turned his research on the process of evapotranspiration in arid regions, particularly on non-homogeneous crops.