

Ana Paula Turetta

Ana Paula Turetta is a Geographer and received her PhD in Soil Science. She is currently a researcher at Embrapa Soils, the research unit of the Brazilian Agricultural Research Corporation (Embrapa). Her research interests are Environmental Planning, Geoecology and GIS with the focus on the interaction of tropical soils with the environment and society.