

Gabriela Ferreira
Brazil

Dr. Gabriela Ferreira is a researcher in Science Diplomacy and International Relations. She is currently a FAPESP Postdoctoral Researcher at the Department of Political Science at the University of São Paulo (DCP-USP) and a member of the Executive Committee of the São Paulo Innovation and Science Diplomacy School (InnSciD SP-USP). Dr. Ferreira holds a Ph.D. in International Relations from the University of São Paulo and King's College London, with a focus on Brazilian Educational Diplomacy. She also earned a Master's degree in Economics of Globalization from Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and PUC São Paulo, specializing in economic development and educational achievement.

Passionate about internationalization of education, science, and innovation, Dr. Ferreira has extensive experience in foreign policy, educational diplomacy, science diplomacy, and innovation diplomacy. Her work contributes to understanding the role of networks and international cooperation in advancing science and innovation on a global scale. Dr. Ferreira is committed to promoting sustainable development and gender equality through international collaboration.

Her skill set encompasses research, policy analysis, and diplomatic negotiations, making her a valuable resource in the field of Science Diplomacy. She is dedicated to fostering international partnerships and knowledge exchange to address global challenges effectively.